Parenting: Don't Try This at Home: What I Learned While My Kids Were Raising Me Phil Callaway

In this sparkling collection of parenting–affirming stories, author and award–winning columnist Phil Callaway captures the amusing and bemusing experiences that tug at the heartstrings of anyone who’s experienced the rollercoaster ride called “family.” Phil turns sometimes–embarrassing moments into timeless spiritual lessons for young and old alike.

Readers will recognize their spouses, their kids, their parents—and themselves—in each tale. The comedy and humanity in each story encourages parents at any stage in the game to take notice of each day’s gifts of humor and faith.

Funny, inspiring, and timeless, this ride through parenthood and daily living reminds anyone who has a child—or was a child—just how wonderful and often whacky it is to be part of a family.

Judith Bradshaw:

As a scholar exactly feel bored for you to reading. If their teacher inquired them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some e-book, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's spirit or real their interest. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring along with can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important for you.
