Have you ever hated someone so much you feel that burn at the pit of your stomach? That feeling right there isn't hate, it's love, its passion and everything you've been yearning most of your life. Jeyla Jenkins thought she knew what love was, but soon realises how wrong she had been once fate brought her and Dean Turner together again after four years.

He hated her. She hated him. It was that simple. Since the age of five when they first laid eyes on each other Jeyla and Dean despised one another. Living across the street from each other and Jeyla being Dean's twin sisters best friend meant they had to be around each other more than they liked. However, when college was over, Jeyla and Dean's sister Ashley went off to University, and Dean enrolled to join the R.A.F to become a combat fighter, so they went their separate ways. The summer of 2006, four years later Jeyla and Dean both return home for the summer. What Jeyla didn't know was fate had other plans for her. Her biggest nemesis quickly became the love of her life. A love she never knew existed shook her to the very core. Forbidden from one another, they couldn't fight the magnetic pull; the want and need burning deep within them. She was addicted to him, like a drug she couldn't get enough of. He was besotted with her, for the first time in his life, he was in love, and he wanted her bad. Fighting their family to be together was one thing, but taking on Fate.... that...they were not prepared for. A tragic love story.
